TAKE THE ROAD LESS TRAVELLED

TAKE THE ROAD LESS TRAVELLED.

HISTORY OF NØRSEWEAR

The Norsewear story begins with 376 intrepid pioneers who left the familiarity of their homelands to face an uncertain future in Aotearoa. Scandinavian migrants, arriving in New Zealand in 1872, stared adversity in the face but, through hard work and determination, followed their dreams to establish the town now known as Norsewood.

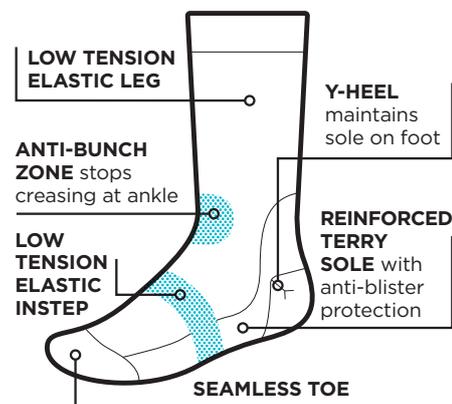

The ideology of these settlers still holds true with Norsewear today - we lead, we don't follow. We are not afraid to be different - to strive for perfection where others settle for acceptable. We create our products with the same principles - we will use unconventional design, untried techniques and unusual fibres to achieve our goals.

Be bold. Take risks.
Take the road less travelled.

Only the best... naturally

Our high performance apparel is made from two of the finest natural fibres, designed to withstand anything you throw at it.

New Zealand Merino:

- an excellent insulator
- superior wicking - draws moisture away from the skin
- stays warm, even when wet
- naturally antibacterial and odour resistant
- extremely soft - helping to prevent blisters

New Zealand Possum:

- ultra fine (16-18 microns) and ultra soft
- hollow fibres - insulation that outperforms merino
- lighter and less bulky than pure merino

We're proud of our rural heritage - generations of farmers have trusted Norsewear through driving rain, howling winds and freezing temperatures in the paddock. You know you don't get to choose your work conditions but you can choose what you wear. Norsewear rural and work socks won't let you down. You can carry on through rain, snow or shine and get the job done. It's the gear you've known and trusted for over 50 years.
